

AN OPEN LETTER

RELATIVE TO CONDUCTING OF MOVING PICTURE SHOWS ON THE SABBATH

Following the protest which has been made against the Sunday opening of the moving picture shows of Glendale, I feel that a personal reply should be given. As the manager of the Palace Grand theater I am, of course, vitally concerned in the issue. I want to say, first, that Glendale is a city now, not a suburb, and as such, we cannot cling to old prejudices. We must advance with the world. Whatever the moving picture industry may have been in its infancy, it now has advanced to the point where it is looked upon as an educational factor. The plays that are screened are refined, moral and uplifting. No expense, no effort is being spared in giving to the citizens of Glendale the very best that can be obtained.

Throughout the entire world the motion picture industry is receiving the support of the churches and their pastors. In the last few years, with the advent of the famous book dramatizations and the educational films, the churches have not only patronized the picture houses, but in many instances, auditoriums have been arranged in the edifices for the showing of the high-class film plays. Furthermore, in many of the Sunday schools of Los Angeles and other progressive cities, the moving picture machine is called into use in the illustrating of the Biblical lessons and stories for the little folk.

Sunday is the family day. It is the day of rest after the week of strenuous work. The theater that offers a clean, bright entertainment for the tired mind of the father and as a diversion to the mother, is not going to detract from the religious benefits that the church offers. The patronage of the one is not going to defect from the attendance of the other.

But there can be no good reason why after attending church in the morning, the family should not enjoy the quiet, restful pastime which the motion picture house provides for the afternoon or evening.

I wonder if those who have protested against the Sunday shows realize how great a number of the Glendale residents go to Los Angeles each Sunday solely that they may attend a good moving picture theater. Our young men and girls finding no entertainments provided for them in their own city, naturally seek it elsewhere, and in many cases the father and mother must stay at home. It may cost too much for the whole family to pay carfare to Los Angeles, and the price of the moving picture show in addition, so some one must stay at home, and it is youth, unprotected, that goes into the larger city, where among the many theaters their steps may be directed into one whose standards are not uniformly high.

This is the chance that the parents take. In their own city they may know what class of plays are being seen by their children. They know where their boys and girls are, who their companions are. Let the Sunday afternoon or evening at your local moving picture houses be a family affair, mother and father and the children, young together, in a healthy and wholesome enjoyment of elevating and diverting pictures.

If the motion picture theater is to be condemned on Sunday, then it should not be condoned on week days. The citizens of Glendale should congratulate themselves that they have in their midst high-class picture theaters, which are giving them of the very best in film plays, with attendant high-class music.

I regret sincerely that the Sunday opening of the Glendale moving picture theaters has occasioned the protest of even a few of the residents. I know, however, that the majority of the citizens regard the Sunday showing of pictures in a broad minded way, and realize that they are a power for good and not an agent for evil. Were the protest against an inferior class of pictures, against immoral or degenerative pictures, then the objection would be a just one. I hope that my statement may be taken in good part by the pastors and citizens, and that upon reflection they later may come to realize the truths I have spoken.

VAN NUYS DEFEATS GLENDAL

The Van Nuys bowling team played a match game at the Glendale alleys Wednesday night and defeated the Glendale team by the score of 2595 to 2530.

A brilliant brain may dwell in a frail frame, but sound thoughts cannot emanate from a body full of impurities.

SITUATION IS CRITICAL

GLENDAL SCHOOL FACE LARGE DEFICIT—WHAT SHALL BE DONE?

The grammar schools of Glendale, and indeed of California, are facing a critical situation.

Three laws have been passed in the last three years, two of them constitutional amendments and the third an act of the legislature, which have brought about this situation. Two of these laws, the one providing for free text books and supplies and the one providing for kindergartens, have placed increased burdens on the schools without providing funds to take care of them, while the third, the amendment abolishing the poll tax, has materially decreased the amount of money available for school purposes. Again, there has for some time existed a glaring defect in the manner of apportioning school funds, namely, the provisions that each district shall receive an amount based upon its average daily attendance for the previous year. The result of this method of apportioning funds is that the district which is growing rapidly is at a disadvantage because the amount of money which it receives is always based upon a condition which it has outgrown.

The above combination of circumstances has brought about the following results in our district. At the close of our fiscal year on the first of last July, we found ourselves facing a deficit of approximately four thousand dollars, so that the teachers failed to receive a full tenth of their salaries for last year's work; that is, they worked one full month for which they have received no compensation. This is a just debt of the district and should be paid, and yet the law says that before paying last year's debts with this year's funds, the board must maintain eight months of school.

In addition to this deficit, the kindergarten budget for this year, made necessary by the petitions handed to the board last summer, is fifteen hundred and twenty-five dollars.

Again, owing to the fact that no poll tax will be collected for 1915, there will be a deduction from this year's state apportionment to the Glendale city school district of approximately three thousand dollars. The addition of all of these figures will show that there is an actual deficit in our funds for this year of a little more than eighty-five hundred dollars.

The result of this condition is simply this. In order to pay off the indebtedness of last year and avoid carrying over such an indebtedness to another year, the board will have to close school at the end of eight months, that is, on May 7.

This will result in a twofold hardship.

In the first place the children will suffer. It will be absolutely impossible to properly cover the course of study in the shortened term, and the direct effect of this will be that the children will be handicapped in their work not only next year, but for several years to come. Failures will necessarily be much more numerous than at present. Moreover, the children will be idle for a full four months next summer.

In the second place, the teachers will suffer in that they will receive their salaries for only eight months; that is, they will receive only about eight-tenths as much as heretofore, and will have to remain idle for four months. Under these circumstances no one could blame the teachers if they seek better position elsewhere.

Since this condition is not confined to Glendale, but is a general one, it seems highly probable that the legislature will enact some remedial legislation, but not in time to do us any good this year.

For this year there is only one remedy and that is a bond election to cover the deficit from last year and such items of this year's expense as can be legally so covered.

In view of these facts your board of trustees has felt it to be its duty to call a mass meeting of citizens to decide what, if anything, shall be done. Accordingly, such mass meeting has been called by duly posted notices for Thursday, January 14, at 8 o'clock p.m. at the Intermediate school. It is hoped that a large number will be present and that there will be a full and free expression of opinion.

RICHARDSON D. WHITE.

JUST AS WELL GET READY

Yes, children, school will begin on Monday, so get your books and pencils out and all be ready to start in Monday with bright faces and clean hands, ready for the next term's work. After such a nice vacation we should all be glad to take up the work again and strive for greater excellence during the coming term.

NO REVENUE YET

AQUEDUCT WATER WILL BE DISTRIBUTED ONLY AFTER YEARS OF LITIGATION

Los Angeles Times—Emphasizing the contention of many that it will be years, if ever, and only after tedious litigation, before aqueduct power will actually be distributed by the city of Los Angeles over its own lines, it leaked out here the other day that the valuation of the Southern California Edison company's distributing system by the state railroad commission, preliminary to condemnation by the municipality, will take six months to complete and will include surveys to the very sources from which the concern derives hydroelectric energy.

"The value of the property that the city seeks to condemn," says an engineer of the commission, "is not a tangible one of sub-stations, wires, poles and conduits. It is an intangible one that includes power stations in the mountains as much as a cross-arm on one of your business streets."

"In other words, the Southern California Edison's entire system is so co-ordinated for the work that it is to do that the city is not condemning something that has metes and bounds, but is seeking to take the heart out of a system that is as nicely adjusted as a watch. Needless to state, the company will demand, and the courts will probably allow, damages that have relation to the system as a whole, not the mere cost of distributing lines on so many streets in Los Angeles."

In other words, the city has apparently bargained for a distributing system sight unseen and the prospect for the city acquiring one for the mere bagatelle of $5,250,000 voted for the purpose has apparently gone glimmering. Incidentally, the value of the Edison company's property in this city was placed, some years ago, at $7,500,000. The city, however, does not wish to acquire all this property.

The valuation work of the commission will begin in real earnest this week with the arrival of Chief Engineer Richard Sachse and Assistant Engineer George R. Maxwell. The latter will have direct charge of the work here. Several of the commission's junior engineers have been here for some weeks going over the Edison company's maps and other data on its system. Their deductions it is understood emphasized the need of making the broadest sort of a valuation of the power company's property in order to arrive at a "legal-tight" value of the portion which the city seeks to condemn.

Some idea of the magnitude of the work of surveying all properties of the Southern California Edison company, ferreting out the punitive value of a transmission line with the same nice attention that would be given to a sixty-foot pine pole, may be gained from the fact that the cost of the plant, buildings and lands of the company is given in the concern's last report to the commission as $20,300,957, while assets are listed at $29,814,086.

Pending the completion of the engineer's valuation work, the petition of the city of Los Angeles to the commission to fix the compensation to be paid the Edison company for its distributing system has been placed on the suspense docket. There it will remain until the engineers are through. Then the commission, in all probability, will have to give another six months to weighing evidence, following the hearing, and to the disposal of demands to reopen the case after the decision is handed down.

But all these will be only preliminary to the main event—a legal fight between the city and the Edison company that is not expected to reach a decision until the United States supreme court has had an opportunity to pass on several constitutional questions. That these questions are involved is admitted even by City Attorney Stephens. Meanwhile, the $1,300,000 in annual revenue that the people have been promised under the power project to care for aqueduct bonds and reduce taxes is apparently as far off as a lowering of the cost of living.

EXCELLENT PROGRAM ENJOYED

The You and I club of Tropico met with Mrs. A. J. Becker of 242 South Central avenue on Wednesday. There were about twenty ladies present to enjoy the excellent program. This consisted of historical readings of the different national hymns of the countries now at war, which readings were both interesting and instructive. There was also music by Mrs. Paine, Mrs. Adams and Mrs. Van Eiten. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the meeting and a social hour enjoyed.

NO USE FOR DEADBEATS

MERCHANTS ORGANIZE TO PROTECT THEMSELVES AGAINST UNDESIRABLE PATRONS

The Glendale Merchants' association now has a membership of eighty-seven. W. H. Crane, secretary of the association, devotes all of his time to the interests of the organization.

One of the objects of the association has been to fortify its members against chances of contracting bad debts. Non-paying and very slow paying customers are enemies to successful business the world over. Thousands of well meaning merchants with limited capital have been forced to close their doors because of extending credit to persons who failed to pay their accounts.

Almost every merchant is anxious to extend credit to prompt paying customers, and the average business man is liberal in cases of well defined charity, but when it comes to a merchant carrying possibly a hundred bad accounts ranging from $3 to $75, there is no business sense in it, and as previously stated, the Merchants' association's purpose is to make it impossible for the deadbeat citizen to go from one place of business to another and contract debts apparently with the intention of paying none of them.

There is no successful merchant and there is no good citizen who has any use for the chronic deadbeat, and neither has the Glendale Merchants' association.

AUTHORITY FOR NEAT PRINTING

Neat printing is like everything else that is neat—it attracts attention. A neatly kept lawn is admired by the passerby; a house well built and neatly finished is admired; a person who is appropriately and neatly dressed—everything, all qualifications being equal, has the advantage over the person who is slovenly and careless about what he wears.

Business and professional men are judged by the kind of stationery they place before the public. A careful, considerate business firm will always use neat, well-printed stationery.

The Glendale Evening News printing plant puts out the neat and appropriate printing, such as is used by successful business men.

AUTOMOBILE AGE

This is an automobile age. Almost everybody who can afford it, owns an automobile, and someone has been cruel enough to say that even a few persons who cannot afford it make a show of owning a motor car of some kind. The state automobile tax as it now exists is unfair. Ford autos are taxed $10 for a license number and larger cars are taxed more according to the power of the engine. Not a few owners pay $15, and many others $20 and $25. It is a question that should be inquired into at state headquarters as to what use is made of the money. Someone says the money is used for improving the public highways. If this be true, the 1914 and 1915 license taxes on automobiles in Los Angeles county should have improved more highways than were improved. As conditions are at present the tax is exorbitant.

MANN FOR PRESIDENT

James R. Mann, representative in congress from the second district of Illinois, has been mentioned as the coming presidential candidate of the Republican party and it is believed that Mann's friends will soon begin active work to accomplish his nomination. Mann is undoubtedly a man of energy and courage and as leader of the House Republicans he has a strong following. Republican politicians who have reviewed the situation say that Whitman of New York is Mann's only serious opponent and that Whitman doesn't count, as he is as yet untried in national affairs.

OF COURSE YOUR AUTO LICENSE TAX IS PAID?

If not, you had better look out after today, for this is the last day you can appear on the streets with 1914 license numbers. Behold it has been decreed, and if the foolish ones get pinched, alas, whom shall they blame?

It is said by those who know that Southern California has gone far ahead of Sacramento this year and has registered 20 per cent more applicants than were registered there, and that there has been a total of 68,000 applications to date. It is also decreed that checks will not be received in payment of license taxes, as there are too many returned N. G.

Arnold W. Brenner, architect, says Broadway, New York, "is not a street—it is a convulsion." How about Broadway, Los Angeles?

EXPECT HEAVY TRAFFIC

TRANSCONTINENTAL RAILROADS MAKE READY FOR MANY TOURISTS THIS YEAR

Officials of transcontinental railroads are preparing for an enormous tourist travel during the next six months. They expect the rush to begin in February and March and continue through the summer. The tourist travel the past season has not been up to previous years and this is believed to be due to the fact that people are waiting until they can visit both fairs before coming to the coast.

The first rush of tourists for the coast is expected when the low rates for the western fruit jobbers' meeting at Los Angeles go into effect early in February. On March 1, however, the Panama-Pacific fair rates will be in effect and after this date the western roads expect to be taxed to their capacity to handle the traffic.

The present rate from Chicago to the coast is $109.50. The fair rate will be $62.50. Passenger officials declare that tourists are perfectly willing to postpone their trips to the coast if they can save $47 thereby.

Railroads extending to the southern states report that their tourist business has not kept pace with the traffic of last year. The travel to Florida has not been as heavy as expected and the traffic to gulf ports also has been disappointing.

"We expect to have our equipment taxed to its capacity with Pacific coast travel after the first of March," said an official of the Union Pacific railroad today. "After March 1 we will have our hands full for the next nine months. Hundreds of organizations will hold their annual conventions on the coast during the summer. A majority of these will be held in San Francisco, but many have decided to meet in other coast cities in order that the fair attractions will not keep delegates away from the business meetings of the various organizations."

NORTH GLENDAL

Mrs. Robert Miller of 1608 Fairmont avenue entertained at her house guest the early part of the week her mother, Mrs. Parks of Santa Monica.

Mrs. T. W. Sampson and son, Master Thomas W., Jr., were Los Angeles visitors Wednesday, enjoying a downtown luncheon and a very pleasant afternoon at one of the popular theaters.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wadsworth and daughter, Miss Ruth Wadsworth of 1017 Fairview avenue, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Swank of Compton last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. McClelland and their daughter, Miss Vera McClelland of Pasadena, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Cook of Pioneer drive on Sunday last.

The Thursday Evening Five Hundred Card club will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cross at their attractive home on Pioneer drive tonight. A delightful time is anticipated.

Mrs. George Larkey of North Central avenue attended a luncheon at Hotel Clark on Wednesday afternoon with a company of one hundred representatives in the interests of organizing an agricultural Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Larkey represented the professional side and Mrs. McCann, with other well-known prominent women, represented the Los Angeles clubs. Interesting speakers were heard and it was decided to carry on a campaign under the auspices of the Outlook association.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Miss Elva Spencer, who has been spending the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. Spencer, of 1537 West Broadway, will return to Berkeley on Sunday. Miss Spencer has had as her guest during the vacation her college friend, Miss Melissa Smith, whose home is in Siskiyou, Cal., and who will return with Miss Spencer on Sunday. One of the trips taken by the girls while in Glendale was to go to the top of Mt. Lowe and from there hike over to Mt. Wilson and down the mountain.

FATHER CHARGES NEGLIGENCE

Charged with gross negligence in connection with the death of an operating table of Rebecca Dillehay, 12, Mrs. James W. Reeves and Clark L. McClish and the California Hospital company are on trial in Los Angeles. The child's father, D. W. Dillehay, a dentist, asks $50,000, alleging that an anaesthetic had been administered her without the condition of her heart and stomach first being ascertained, and that she choked to death because of food substances thrown from her stomach because of the ether.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION

CHANDLERS MARRIED FIFTY-EIGHT YEARS—OTHER TROPICO ITEMS

Of more than passing interest was the dinner party with which Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chandler entertained at their home on West Cypress street New Year's day. The family reunion which is held annually at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chandler, is not only the occasion when all assemble under the old roof-tree, break bread and offer up their grateful benedictions on this estimable man and good woman, but it also marks the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Chandler. This year the dinner party and family reunion celebrated the fifty-eighth anniversary of this man and woman, who despite their years are just in the prime of life and find many blessings rich and eternal that keep them ever young, happy and seeking some means by which to render happiness to others. Throughout the Chandler home, "Casa de Rosas," Christmas colors predominated in the decorations, which lent an added charm to the various rooms. In the rose bower a table was spread at which the younger grandchildren and the great grandchildren ate and drank to the longevity of their distinguished grandparents. The guests of whom there were thirty or more, were the children and descendants of Mr. and Mrs. Chandler, and included Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Elias, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Peckham, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Edward H. Weston, Mr. A. L. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. McNaughton Barnes, Mrs. Fleeta Kinne, Mrs. Mary Barnes, Mr. Pirlie Chandler, Miss Lillian Elias, Miss Frances Peckham, Miss Emily Elias, Miss Gladys Peckham, Miss Lucile Barnes, Miss Bessie Chandler, Chandler Weston and Brett Weston, Vassar Peckham, Allison, Almedia and Kenneth Kinne, Pliny and Lewis Barnes.

The merry Christmas holidays were most thoroughly enjoyed by Eugene H. Imler, who is a student at Throop college, Pasadena, and who spent the holiday season with his mother, Mrs. David H. Imler, and sister, Miss Marjorie Imler, on West Park avenue. A camping trip was enjoyed by young Imler, who was accompanied by Geo. Van Hazelen, David Loper, Merrill Burke and Burna Martin. These young men established their camp in the mountains above La Crescenta. What a treat this would be for eastern boys to go camping at Christmas time!

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Rhodes and family of San Fernando road leave for San Diego shortly, near which city Mr. Rhodes has purchased a ranch. Miss Ethel Rhodes, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rhodes, and who is a student in the senior class of the Glendale Union high school, will reside with her brother, Owen Rhodes, and continue her school duties.

After spending the Christmas holidays as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Elias, and sister, Miss Lillian Elias, Miss Emily Elias returned to Palo Alto on Monday, where she will resume her studies at Stanford university.

Robert N. Taylor of Palmer avenue was among the many who participated in the New Year's festivities attendant upon the opening of the San Diego Panama-California exposition.

Miss Bessie Chandler of Elizabeth Lake is the house guest of her aunt, Mrs. Edward H. Weston, of West Park avenue.

Neil Chandler, who has been spending a few days in Calexico on business, has returned to his home.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

One of the pretty affairs of the week will be the miscellaneous shower on Saturday afternoon, January 9th, given by Mrs. R. W. Meeker of 300 East Colorado boulevard in honor of Miss Hazel Royce, who is to wed Mr. Sinclair Andrews on January 16th. The guests at the shower will be Miss Royce's Philaena class and a few intimate friends of herself and fiancé. The color scheme will be pink and little Miss Theresa Van Grove, who has recently come to this city to live, will entertain with readings. Miss Van Grove is only nine years old and is considered quite a prodigy and is a wonderful little reader. She was with the Blue Bird company and also with the Orpheum circuit and is at present a student in the Scoville dramatic school of Los Angeles, as well as being the youngest pupil at the University of Southern California.

PUBLIC ENEMIES

If you build a line of railway over hills and barren lands, Giving lucrative employment to about a million hands; If you cause a score of cities by your right-of-way to rise, Where there formerly was nothing but some rattlesnakes and flies; If when bringing kale to others you acquire a little kale, Then you've surely robbed the peepul and you ought to be in jail.

If by planning and by toiling you have won some wealth and fame, It will make no odds how squarely you have played your little game; Your success is proof sufficient that you are a public foe— You're a souless malefactor; to the dump you ought to go.

It's a crime for you to prosper where so many others fail; You have surely robbed the peepul and you ought to be in jail.

Be a chronic politician, deal in super-heated air; Roast the banks and money barons, there is always safety there; But to sound the note of business is a crime so mean and base, That a fellow guilty of it ought to go and hide his face. Change the builders' song triumphant for the politicians' wail, Or we'll think you've robbed the peepul and we'll pack you off to jail.

EDITH L. BRASWELL'S COLUMN

"The Tragic Story"

Translated from the German by Edgar Allen Poe.

There lived a sage in days of yore, And he a handsome pigtail wore; But wondered much and sorrowed more Because it hung behind him.

He mused upon this curious case And swore he'd change the pigtail's place And have it hanging at his face, Not dangling there behind him.

Says he, "The mystery I've found; I'll turn me 'round." He turned him 'round, But still it hung behind him.

And 'round and 'round and out and in All day the puzzled sage did spin. In vain it mattered not a pin— The pigtail hung behind him.

And left and right and 'round about And up and down and in and out He turned; but still the pigtail stout Hung steadily behind him.

And tho' his efforts never slack, And tho' he twist and turn and twack, Alas, still faithful to his back— The pigtail hung behind him.

The Modern Jonah and the Modern Shark

While enroute to America, a storm was encountered and it was discovered that a shark was causing most of the turmoil and that the ship was seemingly in danger. The crew had thrown a box of oranges to the shark thinking it would pacify him, but their efforts met with defeat, so they threw a stool to him, thinking surely that would serve the purpose, but of no avail, so it came to a very serious situation, and as their efforts had failed, they thought it best to sacrifice the life of one individual rather than to risk the lives of all on board, as it was plainly to be seen that if something was not done immediately all would meet with the inevitable—drowning! So the crew cast lots and it fell to the little Hebrew boy. He was thrown overboard and that satisfied the shark, so he was easily harpooned. When they had succeeded in getting him on board, much to the amazement of the entire crew and passengers they found the little Hebrew boy sitting on the stool selling oranges two for a nickel!

The story that a Boston beauty specialist proposes to teach the "art of blushing" interests us strangely. What we can't understand about it, however, is how she intends to go about the job of first removing the veneer with which so many of our embryo blushers have concealed their faces.

An Englishman has written a book to prove that Raleigh, not Bacon, wrote the Shakespeare plays. Perhaps Shakespeare wrote them himself.

day Afternoon club building fund, are nearly complete and the entertainment as well as the refreshments promise to be unique and out of the ordinary.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Plasterer of 109 North Kenwood street have just returned from a four months' stay at Hermosa Beach and are again at home to their friends in Glendale.

Mrs. John Seamon of 112 North Central avenue leaves Monday for San Diego, where she will spend a week visiting friends from Chicago who are staying there.

Mrs. M. G. Jackson and Miss Frances Jackson of 1446 West Third street have returned from Colton, where they have been visiting Mrs. Jackson's mother during the holidays.

T. G. Love returned home Tuesday from his holiday visit with the family of his son Clifford at Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. Love and her daughter Madeline are expected back next Saturday.

Mr. W. W. Burford of 740 Glendale avenue is very ill at his home. Mr. Burford has many friends in this city who will be sorry to hear that he is so ill and hope he will soon be better.

Mr. Wilmot J. McIntyre, who has been spending the Christmas holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James F. McIntyre, of 315 Cedar street, has returned to Stanford university to resume his studies.

This is amateur night at the Glendale theater. Billy Simon says, in addition to the specialties, it is rumored that Fred Post, the popular Broadway cigar dealer, will give a talk on woman's rights. This ought to be good.

Mr. S. A. Merriken of 1529 Ivy street, who has been in Salt Lake City for the past two weeks, is expected home soon. Mr. Merriken was sent to that city on business for the Los Angeles company with which he is connected.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Morgan of Rockmart, Ga., stopped in Glendale on Wednesday and visited N. W. McBryde and their college chum, Jas. McBryde. The Morgans were on the way to Shanghai, China, where Mr. Morgan has an excellent position.

Henry Hollenbeck of 220 West Third street is the new night patrolman on Brand boulevard and the western section of Broadway. Without doubt Mr. Hollenbeck will make a fearless officer, as before coming to California he served as a United States marshal in Indian Territory.

The Women's Home Missionary society of the West Glendale M. E. church held a very interesting meeting on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. E. M. Cook on West Fifth street. The program was in charge of Mrs. L. A. Wood, and the ladies began the study of the book, "In Redman's Land," which they are taking up for this year's work.

A bill will be introduced in the California legislature to compel every youth in the state to learn some trade—even though he aspires to professional life. Good idea.

MRS. BRALY RECOVERING

The many friends of Mrs. Mary Howard Gridley-Braly, who has been so seriously ill for so many weeks, will be glad to know that she is recovering and is able to sit up in her room. Mrs. Braly's speedy return to complete health is hoped for.

EXCELLENT PICTURES ON THE PROGRAM AT PALACE GRAND

Mary Pickford in "Such a Little Queen" will appear at the Palace Grand theater for the evenings of January 11 and 12, Monday and Tuesday. Piquant Mary Pickford, with her bewitching smile and alluring pout, is widely known by her brilliant triumphs as a star in many plays. Supporting her in the cast is Carlyle Blackwell, also well known to every motion picture patron in every part of the country.

"Such a Little Queen" is a delightful story enacted in a captivating way by these two favorites. It is very funny when the throne of the little queen is overthrown and the members of royalty become merely common people. The ex-queen of Herzegovina and the ex-king of Bosnia, exiled to America, unexpectedly meet. Both are in straightened circumstances and forced to go to work—find employment at meager salaries. A true spirit of romance permeates the charming play, which may be characterized as a little of the tenderness and sweetness of life put into dramatic expression.

This film is one of little Mary's greatest successes; it permits her a portrayal of a variety of delightful moods and is crowded with thrilling and humorous incidents. "Such a Little Queen" is one of the gems in photoplay and with the winsome little Mary Pickford in the title role, excellent entertainment is assured for the Palace Grand patrons for those two evenings.

For Thursday and Friday evenings, January 14 and 15, "The Typhoon," filmed from the stage production in which Walker Whiteside scored such a sensational success, will be the attraction. Woven around the tragic life affair of an Oriental and Occidental, "The Typhoon" possesses much of the mystery of the Far East. The fidelity of a Japanese to his country is its leading theme. As the story goes, Tokaramo, a young Japanese diplomat, is detailed by his government to compile a secret report of the military strength of France. He becomes entangled with a French actress and his compatriots, fearing that she may interfere with his work, demand that he break with her. Later he learns of her unfaithfulness and in a scene where he tries to end all between them, she taunts him because of his race and color. Goaded to frenzy, he strangles her. "The Typhoon" is an unusual story of the love and tragedy of a young Japanese and the principal male characters are in the hands of capable Japanese actors. The portrayal of Tokaramo is a masterly piece of work.

Tomorrow will be the last opportunity for seeing "The Making of Bobby Burnit," a filmatized version of the very popular novel from the pen of George Randolph Chester, featuring Edward Abeles, the popular star, and capably supported by Theodore Roberts and the fascinating Bessie Barriscale, who play prominent parts.

The offering arranged for showing Sunday afternoon and evening, January 10, is Edward Eggleston's widely known novel, "The Hoosier Schoolmaster." It is a production of the Masterpiece Film company under the direction of Max Figman, and featuring him well supported by Lolita Robertson and Roy Stewart. This film is a combination of clean, hilarious comedy and absorbing heart interest that comes only from the pen of a master hand. Mr. Figman, as the schoolmaster, is the victim of many practical jokes played by the young hoodlums of his school, and in the role of Ralph Hartsook, the schoolmaster who held brain superior to brawn, and the manner in which the truth of the old maxim is demonstrated, provides unlimited opportunities and holds the spectator to the end of the film. His love affair with Lolita Robertson, as Hannah Thompson, who through unfortunate circumstances is in the position of a bond servant, compelled to work for a rough, ignorant family, is conducted under great stress and with many troubles.

Miss Robertson is charming as the poor little girl, who has received a good education, but through force of circumstances is bound out to labor, and Max Figman, as the schoolmaster in this great American classic, gives a portrayal that is delightful. The story is so well known that it is hardly necessary to write more of it here, but it is one of the most absorbing plays seen on a screen, full of good fun and realistic passages from the lives of strong, manly men and sweet, womanly women.

The book was written by Dr. Werner Hegemann, the German expert on city planning, who was brought here from Berlin to study the local conditions.

The city intends to use the volume as a text book in the high schools, thus stimulating interest in city conditions and improvement among the coming generation of citizens. It is also the belief that by spreading broadcast the expert information contained in the book, the public at large will be brought to work more intelligently for the betterment of the city.

WANTS SOME THINKING OUT

Pensively Patrick gazed into the pigsty and fixed his eye and knitted his brow on the fat little object that snugly snorted to itself.

"H'm!" he muttered as shifting into a different position he viewed the piglet from another angle.

Along came Betty O'Hoyle, but not even her pretty face could lure Patrick from his contemplations.

"An' how's the pig, Pat?" she asked, slightly piqued at his indifference.

"He's a livin' wonder!" came the emphatic answer.

"Sure, an' how's that, Patrick?" inquired Betty, drawing nearer the sty.

"Bejabbers!" exclaimed the contemplative one, "he's just guzzled two pailfuls of milk, and then I put
